MANY MINERS ARE ENTOMBED

ALLIES AGREE ON REPARATIONS SUMS

BANK BANDITS SHOOT VAN ALSTYNE MARSHAL

ANNUITIES WHICH GERMANY MUST PAY GIVEN OUT THURSDAY

PRESIDENT OF REICHSBANK WILL CONSULT ALL PEOPLE ON PLANS

PARIS, Mar. 21. (AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, will take with him to Berlin tonight, it is learned the offer of the allied experts on reparations to accept 1,750,000,000 marks (about $420,000,000) as the figure for the German reparations annuities. The allied offer carried with it other conditions not revealed. Dr. Schacht has given no indication that the German government will accept the allied offer. He has telegraphed Dr. Rudolf Hilferding, minister of finance, to call a meeting at Berlin of the great provincial industrialists and heads of the German institutions so he may explain the situation of the negotiations. The German banker asked this meeting deliberately so that responsibility for acceptance or conditional refusal would be widely shared not only by the government but by the great leaders of German industry and finance. The figure of 1,750,000,000 marks is understood to represent reparations payments of all categories. This would entail a reduction of the present annuities under the Dawes plan of between 700,000,000 and 800,000,000 marks. The 1,750,000,000 marks figure was guarded with the greatest secrecy; consequently when it was learned there was no attendant explanation or comment, or if as generally supposed, it was the first figure of a schedule of rising annual totals. Thus it appeared that the minimum which Germany's creditors will accept is in fact the equivalent of the fourth year's Dawes annuity, payment of which was completed August 31, 1928.

RENO DIVORCE COLONY NOW INTERESTED IN CONTESTED DIVORCE CASE OF J. B. DUKE

RENO, Nev., March 21.—(AP)—Reno's divorce colony interested itself today in the sensational fight of Walker P. Inman, heir to a portion of the James B. Duke tobacco millions, to obtain a divorce from Mrs. Helene Garnet Patton Inman, daughter of a Kokomo, Ind., minister. Mrs. Inman came here to fight the case and to seek the setting aside of a financial agreement by which she was said to have received $150,000 and valuable personal property at the time they separated.

JOHNSTON HELD TO BE INCOMPETENT BY IMPEACHMENT COURT

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR ACQUITTED ON NINE OTHER CHARGES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Mar. 21. (AP)—W. J. Holloway, governor of Oklahoma, today took up the gubernatorial toga laid aside by Henry S. Johnston in response to the decree of members of a senate court of impeachment, that Johnston was incompetent to conduct affairs of state. Holloway became the fourth chief executive to occupy the governor's office since 1923, although the constitution provides for a four year term for the post. Johnston left the capitol with the statement: "I have lost the office of governor. I have retained my honor and integrity." Expressing confidence, even on the eve of the verdict, that his administration would be vindicated by acquittal, Johnston had not considered the alternative of conviction by the court in a vote of 35 to 9 on the charge of general incompetency. On all other articles of impeachment Johnston was acquitted.

Climaxes Heatie Regime

Johnston was deposed as the climax of a hectic administration, which struck stormy seas shortly after he took office.

After a jury had been chosen to hear the testimony, Harlan Howard, attorney for Inman, yesterday made his opening statement, declaring he would produce evidence to show that Mrs. Inman "literally ran wild and lost all sense of decency" just before the couple separated in August, 1927. Howard also told the jury he would prove that Mrs. Inman had been intimate with John Steele, a vaudeville actor, and another man whom he referred to as "Bill" Grant. The attorney also alleged that Mrs. Inman had been in the habit of using liquor excessively.

ROBBERY OF TWO VAN ALSTYNE BANKS WAS FRUSTRATED

WELL LAID PLANS OF FOUR BANDITS GO AWRY WHEN MARSHAL RESISTS

VAN ALSTYNE, Mar. 21. (AP)—An attempt to rob both of the banks of Van Alstyne was frustrated today when W. L. Echols, city marshal and night watchman, encountered one of the robbers in an alley behind the institution and was shot and seriously wounded by the man after his own pistol had failed to fire. The robbers, said to have numbered four, had carefully laid their plans. Their automobile had been parked across the street from the banks, the First National and the Continental State, separated only by an alley, and one of the bandits was stationed under a stairway in this passage-way to await the watchman. A second man guarded the interurban station and another a bakery, at each of which places lights showed that workers were on duty. As Echols made his rounds, he was suddenly commanded by the bandit in the alley to hold up his hands. He "stalled" for a minute or so, asking questions, and then drew his own gun. The weapon jammed as the firing pin drop out. The bandit, in turn, fired, Echols dropping to the ground. At the sound of shots, J. T. Sheldon, night watchman at the interurban station, started out, only to be held up by the man on guard there. The bakery employees, also alarmed, rushed out in time to see an automobile speed away. Neither of the banks had been entered. Echols was taken to a hospital in Sherman, a bullet wound in the abdomen and another in the leg. His condition was said to be critical. The gang is believed to have been the same which entered the First State bank at Pottsburo.

Brady Bank Robbed By Lone Bandit

BRADY, March 21.—(AP)—The Farmers and Merchants State Bank of Brady was held up by an unmasked man and robbed of $5,000 today. The bandit ran out of the bank, jumped into a sedan in which there were four girls, and fled southward. Harold Johnson, bookkeeper, and Miss Flora Currie, stenographer, were alone in the bank when the man came in. The robber, believed to have been an employee of a highway gang near Brady, is known to officers, the latter said. Johnson told officers he believed he knew the man. A few minutes before the robbery a man and four girls drove up to a drug store and ordered drinks. They did not wait for service, but drove away. A description given by the drug clerk tallied with Johnson's.

Ranger Takes Up Trail

A Texas ranger, whose name was not learned, and in Brady at the time, took up the trail immediately. It was learned a short time after the robbery that Miss Flora Currie, a stenographer of the bank, was in the place at the time of the holdup. All other officers and employees of the bank were at dinner. No customers were in the bank. According to Johnson, the man walked into the bank, looked around, went out to his car and talked with the girls and returned to the bank with the gun. He pointed the gun at Johnson, ordered the money turned over to him, got in the car and drove south. Sheriff Love Kimbrough, attending the Herrera murder trial at Mason along with most of the peace officers of the county, formed a posse on being notified of the robbery, and started a search for the bandit.

Headed Toward Mason

BROWNWOOD, March 21.—(AP)—Reports of the robbery of a bank at Brady today were that the bandit in an automobile had been seen fleeing toward Mason. A large number of West Texas peace officers were in Mason attending the trial of Ofilio Herrera for the killing of the Mason county sheriff. Not Found in Dallas. DALLAS, March 21.—(AP)—No trace of the men who shot W. L. Echols, Van Alstyne night watchman today, was found by Dallas police who were told the men headed toward Dallas. Three men were reported in the machine which carried a Dallas county license plate, and asked him to help me. He then gave me food and an outfit of clothing. I stayed there about a month, working in a cotton field. "I had been married just 11 months when I was sent to the penitentiary. I decided to elope with Mangum, my old home, and see my wife. I got back there in the night and from a friend found out my wife was working with the sheriff's office as a sort of special deputy. "I didn't go to see her. I was afraid she might think it was her duty to arrest me. I just slipped out of town and made my way to Dallas, where I got work as a carpenter. About six years ago I moved to Houston, where I have been living since. "After the Oklahoma penitentiary warden had said he would send for Sparks if the prisoner would waive extradition, Sparks said he would fight extradition and would seek to get his Houston friends to petition the governor for a pardon. SALE OF SHIPS CLOSED. WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—The contract for sale of the United States Lines and American Mercantile Lines, which include the Leviathan and ten other ships, to Paul W. Chapman, Inc., of New York, for $16,300,000, was signed today. LEJEUNE HEADS V. M. I. RICHMOND, Va., March 21.—(AP)—A committee of the board of visitors of Virginia Military Institute announced today that Major General John A. LeJeune, former commander of the Marine Corps, had accepted the superintendency of the institute.

SECRETARY WILBUR PURSUES PLANS FOR CONSERVATION OIL UNDER PUBLIC DOMAIN

Widow, Wife And Widow All In Four Days

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur today took another step in the development of the administration's oil conservation policy by issuing a general departmental order looking to its further execution. Mr. Wilbur said that in reviewing permits, representative cases may be recommended for public hearing before the secretary of the interior to determine lines of policy. He said the holding of hearings would be an effort on the part of the department to deal fairly with all oil companies and prospectors involved in the recently promulgated policy of completely stopping the taking of oil from the public domain. The order flatly instructed the committee appointed by Mr. Wilbur, consisting of Solicitor Finney, Director Smith of the geological survey, and Commissioner Spry of the land office to cancel all permits where the expenditure of money in development work is not involved. The general land office, the order said, will hold for cancellation, allowing 15 days in which to show cause, all permits on which there is no evidence that expenditure of money in development work has been made.

FRANCE AND WORLD PAYS DUE TRIBUTE TO NOTED SOLDIER

FRANCE PLANS NATIONAL FUNERAL FOR GENERALISIMO OF ALLIED ARMIES

PARIS, Mar. 21. (AP)—From the ends of the world, from high and low, from kings and princes and humble soldiers, homage was brought today to the bier of Marshal Ferdinand Foch as France prepared to give her soldier son the greatest honors within her power. To the home where the generalissimo of the mighty allied hosts of 1918 died at sunset yesterday, an unending succession of distinguished personages, messengers and messages began to arrive before dawn and continued throughout the day. The Belgian ambassador, whose country bore the first wounds of the war, was followed by former Premier Clemenceau, the "father of victory," and a few minutes later came Marshal Joffre, aged and thin. Then came Myron T. Herrick, the American ambassador, who, when Paris was threatened in the early days of the war, offered to put his own country's flag over the shrines of French glory to protect them from harm. Famous one-armed General Gouraud, the defender of Paris, was there too, stooping over the body of the marshal to pin upon his breast the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, the greatest of his country's decorations. General John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Force, also had 69th.

NEW ORLEANS POLICE WORKING ON MURDER THEORY IN DEATH

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 21.—(AP)—Proceeding upon the theory of murder police today sought an unidentified man seen to enter the automobile with Mrs. Janey H. Baker, 64-year-old boarding house keeper, less than an hour before her charred body was found in the flaming automobile in Audubon Park Tuesday. A coroner's jury will be impaneled today to take testimony of various witnesses who have been questioned by police. Among them will be Harry Spaulding, a boarder in Mrs. Baker's home, who told of seeing a man wearing "a soft hat and light overcoat" enter the automobile with Mrs. Baker at her home early Tuesday morning. Mrs. Edwin Both told police she was driving through the park and saw two men run from the flaming automobile.

MAN ARRESTED AS ESCAPED CONVICT AFTER SEVENTEEN YEARS AS RESPECTABLE MAN

HOUSTON, March 21.—(AP)—Archie J. Sparks, 51, escaped from the Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlester 17 years ago while serving a 23-year sentence for grand larceny, made his way to Texas and earned an honest living as a carpenter. He was arrested yesterday by Houston officers. "I thought my past was forgotten and I could continue to carry on as a respected citizen," Sparks said at the city jail. "It seems to me that my life during the past 17 years shows my desire to live an honest life." He spoke readily of his escape from the penitentiary. "In five days I made a break while we were working on a county road," he said. "We just took to our heels and the five guards emptied their guns at us. We ran into a marsh, wading in up to our knees. I couldn't run as fast as the others and they outdistanced me. "I came to a ravine and hid in it. Several times I saw and heard dogs nearby, hunting for me while I laid close to the ground and held my breath. I learned afterwards there were 35 guards and a pack of bloodhounds after us. "I left the ravine about 9 o'clock at night and the dogs picked up my trail an hour later. I walked along a railroad track and a train came long, destroying my trail. The dogs couldn't pick up my scent again after the train passed. "Nights I spent in getting away. In the daylight I hid wherever I found cover. I went without food for four days and nights. On the fifth night I came to a little village. It was 2 o'clock in the morning when I got a druggist out of bed

DRIVES IN NORTH AND WEST STARTED AGAINST FEDERALS

CALLES CONTINUED CONCENTRATING POWERFUL ARMY AT TORREON

(By The Associated Press.) Sharp counter-offenses by rebel armies faced the Mexican government today in the north and along the west coast.

As General Calles, federal commander-in-chief, continued concentrating his powerful army at Torreon for a drive in pursuit of the retreating insurgents, a rebel movement developed in Sinaloa which may threaten the federal stronghold at Mazatlan on the west coast and demanded the surrender of that place, but General Carrillo, defending it with 2000 men, prepared to combat any attack. Should the rebels capture Mazatlan, a way would be open for their advance southward into Mayarit and Jalisco where the insurgents hoped to further help against the government. It also would offer a peril to General Calles' left flank and rear.

Report Durango Held.

Reports that the rebels had captured Durango were received but could not be confirmed. A rebel advance on the federal stronghold of Naco on the border also was threatened. The insurgents claim that their strategy is to draw General Calles northward into a trap, to cut him off from reinforcements and then to launch a major drive against him.

Headquarters reported the capture of Puebla and Guanajuato near Mexico City, but there was no confirmation of this. General Jesus Aguirre, leader of the defeated insurgents in Vera Cruz, was captured and is understood to have been courtmartialled and executed.

Rebels Advancing On Naco-Mazatlan

MISSISSIPPI RIVER AT DANGER STAGE IN NORTHERN REACHES

QUINCY, Ill., March 21.—(AP)—Unable longer to withstand the onslaught of the torrent of water which had reached the levee crown, the Indian Grave levee on the Mississippi river about five miles north of Quincy gave way today, pouring a great flood over 20,000 acres of improved farm lands in the district.

CHICAGO, March 21.—(AP)—An angry Mississippi, rushing past Quincy at its highest stage in 26 years, hurled itself against levees along a 50-mile front today, battering already weakened dikes, seeping through in places and splashing over in others. Patrolmen, standing by with sandbags at scores of danger spots, found new cause for worry today when reports from Des Moines said the Iowa and Cedar river crests had not yet reached the Mississippi. This news, they said, meant continuance of the high water stage for several days and retarding the hope of relief for the remaining weeks.

Residents of the low farm lands in the Lima Lake district 10 miles north of here and the Indian Grave district, 20 miles north, were moving out their live stock and personal belongings in fear that the flood stage might be reached tomorrow. Other families were preparing to evacuate from the South Quincy Gardens, just south of here. Not since 1903 had today's 201 foot stage been reached at Quincy. The river reached 20.7 feet in that year, establishing a record for as long as statistics have been kept. Lowering of the wind late last night brought some comfort to the small army of men who are guarding the levees, but they remained apprehensive because of the numerous weak spots caused by the continuous pressure of the last few days.

Frank Capone Is In Dallas; Defender of Al

DALLAS, March 21.—(AP)—Frank R. Capone, brother of Scarface Al Capone, Chicago gangster, denied here today he was in Dallas to purchase a road house between here and Fort Worth. He said he came here when Mexican fighting spoiled his plans to attend the races at Tijuana. Capone defended his brother, Al, as "the best man you ever met."

Frank said, "Any time you need money, and can get Al, he'll help. He gives away about $100,000 every Christmas. He is interested in charities of the Catholic churches in Chicago, and last Christmas gave them $50,000. Al is in Chicago now and I am going there soon."

TEXAS AND SOUTHWESTERN CATTLEMEN NAME SAN ANGELO AS MEETING PLACE IN 1930

HOUSTON, March 21.—(AP)—San Angelo today carried the convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association by storm and was named the site for the 1930 convention. The vote was by acclamation after Fort Worth and Dallas, other cities nominated, had withdrawn. Only a handful of persons arose to vote for Fort Worth when the balloting started. Fort Worth was immediately withdrawn, and Dallas representatives followed suit. Congressman Claude Hudspeth of El Paso invited the convention to the "imperial city on the banks of the Rio Grande," and San Angelo's nomination was seconded by E. D. Henry of San Antonio, a member of the executive committee, and Joe D. Jackson of Alpine, past president.

Before selecting their next meeting place and adjournment for the year, delegates to the convention unanimously elevated T. D. Hobart of Pampa to the presidency and named J. M. West of Houston first vice president. Hobart formerly was first vice president. He succeeded R. M. Kleberg of Corpus Christi. C. C. Slaughter of Dallas, second vice president, and E. B. Spiller, Fort Worth, secretary and general manager, were re-elected without opposition. President Hobart appointed T. M. Fife of Longfellow, W. B. Warren of Hockley, A. V. McQuiddy of Canadian, A. E. Gates of Laredo and E. W. Clark of Fort Worth as new members of the executive committee of 50. They succeeded J. S. Dorsey of Canadian and P. H. Landergin of Amarillo, deceased.

LARGE NUMBER ARE REPORTED TO HAVE ESCAPED FROM MINE

EXPLOSION EARLY THURSDAY TRAPPED MANY MEN, SOME OF WHOM ESCAPE

PARNASSUS, Pa., March 21. (AP)—More than 100 coal miners were unaccounted for today, six hours after an explosion in the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal Company. One hundred and seventy men came up out of the pit in small groups while rescue crews were endeavoring to learn the fate of the entombed.

Two bodies were reported seen by rescue men who pushed into the mine as soon as entry was possible. Flames raged about the Kinloch, entry into the main heading and dangerous gas and after damp was reported in the pit. Mine officials could not say definitely how many were at work in the mine. The day shift had gone into the workings but a few hours before the blast and under normal conditions 382 men were employed there. However, estimates of the number at work this morning ranged between 275 and 300 men.

All of the miners who escaped came out at a point about five miles from the Kinloch entry, about which the explosion centered. Rescue men found it difficult to enter the workings from the Kinloch opening and it was believed the miners at work near there had no chance to escape. PARNASSUS, Pa., March 21.—(AP)—Scores of miners were entombed by an explosion in the Kinloch mine of the Valley Coal company near here today. Approximately one hundred men had been at work for the blast and company officials said there was a possibility many of the others might find their way to safety. More than three hundred miners were in the workings when the explosion occurred. Of these, the greatest number were believed to have been at work near the main heading and rescue workers feared that they were near the center of the explosion. Those who escaped came from an entry about five miles from that known as the Kinloch entry, the center of the operation. The explosion occurred shortly after 7 a. m. The day shift of workmen had entered the mine not long before. Some said there were two mander of the American expeditionary force, and Marshal Petain who commanded the French under Foch walked with slow steps to the bed where the marshal lay. Representing all of France in his sorrowful mission, Gaston Doumergue, president of the republic, was one of the early callers. He was escorted to the bed where the marshal rested and then expressed to the marshal's widow the grief of the whole nation to whose glory Foch so greatly added.

King Albert of Belgium, himself a close friend of the allied generalissimo, left Brussels at noon to pay his personal tribute to the late marshal.

Meanwhile all Paris and all France had gone into mourning. From every public building flags at half mast hung in the warm spring sunshine.

This afternoon the marshal's body was brought downstairs from the room in which he died, and the first permitted to pass before the body were the newspaper men who for more than two months, day and night, in snow and rain had kept an unbroken vigil outside the gates of the marshal's home telling the story of his struggle against death. After them notable personages and intimate friends of the marshal and his family took their farewell.

PARIS, March 21.—(AP)—The body of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, who led the allied armies to victory in the World War, lay in peace today in a bed in a sparsely furnished room of his stately old mansion near the Invalides Palace.

A guard of honor, soldiers who marched with the dead marshal in victory and in the dark days preceding triumph, took possession of the courtyard in front of the old soldier's home.

Parisians passed with heads bowed and hats off, while the nation planned its sixth national funeral, its highest honor in death for the man who did so much for it during his life.

The body was clad today in the marshal's field uniform of blue. On its breast the ribbons and medals of almost every order of prominence in the world reposed, among them the star and grand cross of the legion of honor. This last was brought and pinned on by General H. J. E. Gouraud, shortly after death yesterday.

Hands Clasp Crucifix

The hands are crossed on his breast, clasping a crucifix placed there by his chief of staff during the war, General Maxime Weygand. Over his leg was thrown the cloak he wore at his entry into Strasbourg, November 28, 1928. On a little night table at his side were other of his decorations, among them his croix de guerre, and a font of holy water.

The marshal's physician and faithful friend Dr. Maurice Heitzboyer, has hardly left the room since the body was laid out there. General Weygand and Father Boncourt, were constant in their attendance also. Two Catholic sisters and three general-staff colonels, Bouilly, Enliger, and Demury, in full uniform took turns last night in guarding the room, dimly lit with two candles placed on each side of the bed.

While the marshal slept his last sleep in his own little bed plans were made to give him the state funeral within the power of the nation. The government, responding to general desire, immediately decided he was to have the rare distinction of national obsequies. This is an honor never before paid to a soldier of the French republic. But five others have received it, the Presidents Carnot and Faure; the scientist, Pasteur; the statesman, Gambetta, and the writer, Victor Hugo.

It was proposed that he pass the night before his interment lying in state beneath the arc de triomphe beside the Unknown Soldier's tomb—the great name beside the great nameless. Prior to this it was expected the body would be placed in the Invalides before the tomb of Napoleon Bonaparte and there was a feeling he would be laid to his final rest in one of the Niches of the Crypt where the body of the great Corsican lies. But these and other details were to be decided at a cabinet meeting.

Story of Last Hours

Members of the household told over and over again today the story of the marshal's last hours. He had seemed better and showed some signs of his old cheery self.

During the day he talked with Mrs. Foch but shortly after noon she noticed he was growing pale. She called his nurses, and the marshal was taken from his lounge near an open window to his bed.

Members of the family were summoned and Reverend Father Berdrud came to administer the last sacraments. Dr. Daveniere arrived but it was too late to bring the dying back and he breathed his last at 5:50 p. m., just as the sun was setting.

The marshal spoke his last words when he was lifted back into his bed. "Monsieur Le Marechal," he was told, "we are going to put you in bed." The marshal replied "Bien al-lions, "which may be translated, "All right, let's go ahead."

Suddenly there was a change in his face, a twitching. He placed his hand on his heart, lay down on his bed and spoke no more.

Although the marshal's illness was threefold, of the heart, the lungs and the kidneys, death came it was said, as the result of heart failure.

Funeral Set for Tuesday.

PARIS, March 21.—(AP)—The funeral of Marshal Foch has been set for Tuesday next. The body is to lie in state under the Arc de Triomphe for 24 hours previously. It has not yet been decided whether the religious ceremony shall be held in Notre Dame Cathedral or in the chapel of the Invalides.

Fred M. Copeland of Puresley was a Corsicana visitor Thursday. C. M. Collins of Eureka was here Thursday afternoon.

blasts, one immediately following the other.

A sheet of flame shot three hundred feet in the air, witnesses said, at the main tippie at Kinloch. Six men at work near the tippie were injured, but were not in a serious condition.

As the hours passed, more miners arrived at the Kinloch entry after coming to the surface at the distant mouth known as the Valley Camp entry. At 11 a. m., company officials said that between 140 and 150 men were known to have escaped.

Rescue Work Started.

PARNASSUS, Pa., March 21.—(AP)—An explosion entombed approximately 300 coal miners in the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal company near here today. Reports were that five bodies had been taken from the pit an hour after it was swept by the blast.

The day shift of miners had gone to work shortly before the explosion. Normally 300 men were employed at the mine.

The countryside was shaken. A sheet of flame and dense clouds of smoke came from the pit mouth. Two men at work on the tippie at the mouth of the mine were burned.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene and fire trucks from New Kensington were on hand soon after the explosion. The United States bureau of mines dispatched rescue men from the Pittsburgh and a mine rescue car was on its way from Russellton.

The Kinloch mine is owned by the James A. Paisley interests, of Cleveland.

O. F. Taylor, mine superintendent, said many of the miners might find their way to an exit five miles from the main heading. This, he believed was their lone hope for escape.

Physicians, nurses and rescue men were gathered about the mine. The clouds of black smoke and flames issuing from the pit stayed the rescue crews from entering the workings.

Many Miners Escape.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 21.—(AP)—Kinloch mine was informed today that fifty or sixty of the miners entombed as a result of an explosion at Parnassus had reached the surface safely through another mine.

Miner Tells of Blast

PARNASSUS, Pa., March 21.—(AP)—Raymond Tomblin, one of the miners who escaped from the explosion that swept the Kinloch mine of the Valley Camp Coal company today, expressed the belief that many of his fellows had died within the pit. Tomblin said he found the body of his "buddy" as he was making his way to safety from the Valley Camp entry, five miles from the town of Kinloch.

Tomblin was one of a party of 21 men who came out of the Valley Camp entry. He said that with the explosion, there came a rush of air

BOOSTER CLUB OF HIGHWAY 75 HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING

ROAD BUILDING MATTERS DISCUSSED AT FAIRFIELD WEDNESDAY

The Highway Seventy-five Booster Club consisting of many members of this federal highway through Texas held its regular meeting at Fairfield Wednesday with a representative delegation present. The purpose of the organization is to push the early completion of this important highway in Texas, as well as cooperate with the highway commission in the many problems they will have in pushing the work on this road.

Following a social gathering and dinner at the hotel, P. O. French of Fairfield, president of the club, called the meeting to order, with P. D. Broune making the welcome address.

Among the other members called upon for talks were J. P. Stephenson of Dallas, T. B. Warden of Houston, R. A. Thompson of Dallas, R. J. Jackson of Corsicana, B. H. Broiles of Mexia, M. E. Hodges of Teague and Roy Christian of Corsicana. Much interest was shown by all of the speakers in the good work now being done on highway seventy-five in which it was brought out that this would be the only first highway running through Texas north and south, being over 300 miles long. It was also featured that when this highway was completed the traffic would be almost as much as now on the highway between Dallas and Fort Worth, the highway to be twenty feet wide, and in time no doubt would be widened to forty feet as the traffic would demand.

Mr. Thompson of Dallas, formerly state highway engineer, gave in detail the number of miles of road in each county that had already been completed on this highway, as well as giving the mileage that will be taken care of in the near future by recent bond issues. Much praise was given the work being done by the state highway commission, and a committee composed of J. P. Stephenson of Dallas and H. L. Williford of Fairfield, was appointed to draft suitable resolutions which were unanimously endorsed commending the state highway department and its three commissions, as well as the state highway engineer.

The resolution also urged the people to not handicap the highway construction throughout the state by any radical reduction of the automobile license, recommending that should a reduction be made that it would not exceed 20 percent.

In the report of the progress of highway seventy-five in Texas it was brought out that work on grading a section of this highway between Streetman and Richland was well under way, and that it was hoped that other sections of the highway in Navarro county would be pushed to an early completion.

It was stated in the round table discussion that highway seventy-five should be entirely completed by 1931.

The officers of the Highway Seventy-five Booster Club are, P. O. French, Fairfield, president; P. H. Singletary, Huntsville, secretary-treasurer; R. J. Jackson, Corsicana, vice-president; J. P. Stephenson, Dallas, vice-president.

The members attending the meeting were: Judge Clay Nash, Corsicana; M. E. Hodge, Teague; R. A. Thompson, Dallas; A. McCormick, Madisonville; Lowry Martin, Corsicana; B. H. Broiles, Mexia; C. E. Childs, Fairfield; W. L. Williford, Fairfield; W. A. Parker, Fairfield; W. L. Robinson, Madisonville; W. T. Meadows, Wortham; W. W. Steward, Steward Mills; L. H. Witherspoon, Teague; W. D. Lacey, Centerfield; T. J. Hall, Fairfield; M. C. Lancaster, Dew; J. E. Lott, Fairfield; James Rodford, Fairfield; R. J. Jackson, Corsicana; L. C. Kirgen, Fairfield; P. H. Singletary, Huntsville; H. R. Steward, Fairfield; P. O. French, Fairfield; P. B. Middleton, Fairfield; F. E. Hill, Jr., Fairfield; J. P. Stephenson, Dallas; W. Roy Christian, Corsicana; T. B. Warden, Houston; P. D. Broune, Fairfield; T. H. Watson, Fairfield; Tom Lindley, Fairfield; T. B. Peyton, Fairfield; L. J. Davis, Fairfield.

Special praise was given Engineer M. E. Hodges for the excellent work he is doing in pushing the work on highway seventy-five in Freestone county, emphasizing that it was his energy, initiative, and aggressiveness that was greatly responsible for the work now being done on this highway through Freestone county.

In choosing children's footwear, one should always take into consideration the very definite economy to be gained through getting shoes of the better quality, which save for you through longer wear.

And you should not overlook the very important fact that the life-long foot ailments which often result from cheap, poorly made shoes, can be entirely avoided by getting the better grade, in which skilled workmanship assures shape retention and proper foot support.

The "health insurance" of better shoes costs very little when compared to the protection it affords delicate growing feet.

ACTUAL WORK ON CONDITIONAL FIELD AT AIRPORT STARTS

SEVERAL TEAMS AND MEN BEEN BUSY SEVERAL DAYS LEVELLING GROUNDS

Actual work of conditioning the landing field at the Corsicana Municipal airport has been underway for several days with several teams and a large number of men busily engaged in filling several small ditches and levelling the contour of the field.

A considerable amount of work is to be done on the field; after the surface has been levelled it must be dragged and rolled, the runways disced and sodded, and numerous other steps taken before the field will be in first class condition.

Expense of the levelling was undertaken Tuesday night by the Navarro County Shrine club, headed by President W. C. Stroube, who has been one of the most important factors in securing the airport for Corsicana. The work is being done at absolute cost through the courtesy of F. P. McElwraith, Corsicana road contractor, under the personal supervision of Tyree Bell.

With only a short time remaining in which to get the field in shape, all work is being rushed as fast as possible, and those in charge of the work are hoping for favorable weather.

Spurred on by the action of Corsicana in establishing an airport, the city of Mexia is now actively engaged in making a location and has named a group to select and secure a 100-acre site for a field as soon as possible. It is expected that within a short time the way from Dallas to Houston will be dotted landing fields.

Charges Filed Against Two In Boyd Robbery

DECATUR, March 21.—(AP)—Charges of burglary and assault with intent to murder, were filed here today against two more men—Frank Nale, alias "Spike," and John R. Wilson, alias "Doc," in connection with burglaries at Boyd, Monday and two gun battles between officers and suspects. Charges were filed Monday against John L. Davis and Ed Long, who were arrested near Newark during a man hunt.

Two women, arrested in Fort Worth Tuesday when officers found clothing and jewelry later identified as lost, were released by County Attorney F. A. Davenport of Wise county.

The four men told Davenport they entered a Boyd bank in addition to blowing the safes of the postoffice and two business establishments. They said they entered through a side window but left immediately.

GOVERNOR EXPECTED TO SIGN MEASURE FOR JUNIOR COLLEGES

WILL THEN BE UP TO PEOPLE NAVARRO COUNTY AND CORSICANA, ALLISON SAYS

A. A. Allison, chairman of the chamber of commerce, education committee and who has taken an active part in the passing of the junior college bill, stated today that the bill is awaiting the signature of Governor Moody. Mr. Allison thinks that it is very probable that the bill will be signed unless the governor thinks it is unconstitutional.

"If the bill is signed," Mr. Allison said, "then it will be up to the voters of Navarro county at large to vote the necessary bonds to secure the college; but if the county election fails, the issue will be left to the citizens of Corsicana." Mr. Allison stated that he hoped the county election will pass the bonds because it will insure the building of a larger school.

No definite plans have been formulated for the building of the college, but Mr. Allison intimated that it would not be run in conjunction with the present public schools. In all probability the junior college will be housed in a separate building built in the edge of town," Mr. Allison said.

If the governor signs the bill, and a bond election is called and it is successful, the actual work will begin about September 1, 1930, according to Mr. Allison's viewpoint.

OIL ACTIVITY.

Indications are that there will be considerable oil activity in Navarro county this year. Some of the major companies are blocking acreage in a heretofore unnoticed section and rumor has it that three tests are to be made in a short time. The oil resources in Navarro county have never been fully developed and many of us will live to see the day when every nook and cranny of this section has been drilled. You don't hear of any of the major companies abandoning their leases in this county. In fact they are always adding to their holdings.

NEW ENGLAND AND THE SOUTH.

In comment on an industrial survey which indicates that, "instead of an exodus of New England industries to other locations, more industries are being attracted to New England than to other points from New England," the Manufacturers Record, Baltimore, in its issue of March 7 says:

"Through all the discussion for many years of the Southward movement of the textile industry, the Manufacturers Record has emphasized that his would not necessarily mean a halting of New England's prosperity. Some industries can leave New England to advantage, and a good many have gone into the South. But in a section so abundantly supplied with available capital, with such enormous savings from the thrift of the people ready for investment in establishing new enterprises or enlarging existing plants, New England can, as it has done in the past, turn rapidly from one industry to another. We do not believe New England has reached the limit of its growth, but that it will keep on prospering and its people keep an accumulating wealth, piling it on top of the vast wealth they already have.

"But what New England is doing ought to be far more than duplicated in the South. Indeed, it ought to be increased many times. New England without natural resources has by energy, initiative and alertness, been able to build an enormous industrial structure based really on artificial conditions. It imports most of its lumber; it imports its foodstuffs; it imports its cotton and its coal and other raw materials; and on this artificial foundation it has built a wealth that is almost staggering in amount as based on its comparatively limited population.

"There is a lesson in the success of New England for the South and for every other part of the country. The South, with its enormous resources of coal and iron and oil and gas, and a thousand and one other advantages, ought to develop within the next few years an industrial growth and an accumulation of wealth per capita certainly greater than New England has been able to achieve. The people of the South have an opportunity to display their initiative and energy and their ability to attain a progress and wealth in this section in proportion to the vastness of its natural advantages over the lack of natural advantages in New England; and when that has been brought about, the wealth of the South will then be so great that all the figures of today will seem trivial by comparison."

Clean up and paint up—do your duty as an individual property owner to beautify the city in which you live.

Few reformers can understand how people can be happy and still reject their theories.

THE IDEAL CITIZEN.

An ideal citizen is one who sees clearly and ever something good in the city and never loses an opportunity to spread the news abroad that others may derive benefits therefrom, whose unselfishness prompts him to want others to share opportunities, health and pleasure which his home city offers.

Loyalty is the first requisite for the ideal citizen. The love for the place and his neighbors which dismisses the thought of self interest and resolves itself into the knowledge of duty when he does all in his power to make the city a better place in which to live.

There are three distinct attitudes which a citizen may assume toward the place in which he lives, which furnishes him food, shelter and association for himself and family—to boost, to remain quiet, or to knock. The booster is the ideal citizen who is never forgetful of the obligations which are due the home city. He is ever found at the front when any movement is launched which might tend to the advancement of the interest of the city. While others see darkly, to him good is visible at all times. The quiet citizen is satisfied to let the neighbor do the work and content to lull the city asleep and let it rest. The knocker is the man who is without a country. There is no room for him anywhere. His presence dampens the enthusiasm of every man or group of men who unfortunately come in contact with him. Having no faith in his own ability to go forward, he naturally lacks faith in his home city to do so.

You have the chance to belong to either of the three classes. If you are a booster, your neighbor knows it and will boost you. If you are aligned with the quiet class you will not be regarded one way or the other, for the man who elects to steer in the middle of the stream gets no support from either side. If unfortunately you are a knocker, get ready to be knocked, for eventually it is coming to you. As you give so will it be meted out to you.

DUAL ADVANTAGE OF ADS.

The profits in advertisements are not alone with the advertiser. He pays for the space used and profits by the fact that they are read by the subscribers to the newspaper; customers are informed as to wares mentioned and attracted to his place of business. They are direct messages sent by the advertiser to the reader of the paper. When the message is not received the advertisement loses its worth. There must be two parties in this to make it profitable to either.

The profits which accrue to the readers of advertisements are many. Time is saved by ascertaining where and when to buy either necessities or luxuries, where to find the kind of amusement desired.

When advertising ceases to pay the reader as well as the advertiser, advertisements will cease to be printed.

NEW PRO LAW.

It now looks like the Jones family will assume the responsibility of enforcing the prohibition statute. And why not? If numbers mean anything it will be a cinch. But then on the other hand there is the possibility of the Jones family not being unanimous on the Jones Law. If this is the case we are right back where we started. If some of the Jones boys should happen to be mixed up in the liquor racket Old Man Jones who thought up the 5 and 10 law is not going to be popular with his own family.

With a system of hard surfaced, all weather roads in Navarro county and a modern airport in operation there there would be no limit to the expansion of the city. We have the natural resources. If we would only lend our aid in their development.

If it is a platinum and set in diamonds, who cares a whoop whether or not it keeps time?

Farm Heads Hail Reed-George Act With Enthusiasm

BY FRANK I. WELLER
 (Associated Press Farm Editor.)
 WASHINGTON—(AP)—Visions of intensified agriculture, consistently profitable for a nation of technically trained men and women, are held by farm leaders as a result of the Reed-George act which in five years will bring the new annual appropriation for vocational education up to a total of $2,500,000.

The act, which took its place among federal statutes during the last days of the Coolidge regime, is in the nature of an amendment to the Smith-Hughes law, under which the government funds for vocational education since 1917. It adds $500,000 to the appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, and an additional $500,000 for each of the succeeding years.

By provisions of the Smith-Hughes law, funds appropriated by the federal government for vocational education are matched by the states on a 50-50 basis. There are present 3,591 schools in the United States receiving federal aid for instruction in agriculture, including home economics. Of this number, 3,192 are attended by white students and 399 by negroes.

Expenditures of federal, state and local funds for vocational agricultural education in 1927 totaled $7,468,255, of which the federal government contributed $2,801,591, while the states and localities raised $4,667,703. The sum of $3,158,638 was raised by local taxation. The figures show that the states are more than matching federal funds.

Teachers in vocational education are selected by the local school boards just as other teachers are selected, and the democracy of the system appeals to most of the rural citizens. Teachers are employed on the year-round basis. Different rules prevail in different states. In some 10 boys or girls in a given school desire vocational education, application is made for a trained teacher. The application is made to the state board of education. Every boy or girl elects to take vocational work as a part of the high school course is required to carry on at home at least six months of definite practical work which is particularly under the supervision of the vocational teacher.

Accurate cost accounting reveals a decided monetary advantage to students. The total labor income from this practical work during the last five years was $23,637,924, while the total federal fund spent for salaries of teachers of vocational agriculture was $10,418,460. This means that for every dollar spent by the federal government, $2.25 was realized by the boys and girls for their labor after making all allowance for cost of production.

BUYING CLOTHES.

A man selects a blue necktie for the same reason that he orders a chocolate soda. It is the first thing that comes into his mind. He usually walks away with the second hat the salesman shows him, and he can be easily argued into buying a pair of shoes that does not fit, and that he doesn't really want.

But does a woman ever act like that? Well, just ask the clerk at the soda fountain or the young man in the gen's furnishing store about their women customers.

Women pick out things for their men folks with taste and discrimination; that is, everything except cigars. No woman has any business to buy cigars for any man, unless he has first specified the brand. But in the clothing line the women know what they are doing. It would surprise you to know how many women in Corsicana make purchases for their husbands and grown sons. It bespeaks a pride that all concerned justly may be thankful for, and there is nothing in it to make the man ashamed. He will be better dressed for it.

True, once in a while one meets some old crocodile who has always been slouchy, and when he first appears in a neat and natty outfit that his wife picked out we are surprised, and we laugh. But would his own selection have been better?

An ailing celebrity in Europe is reported to be living on "sheer grit." We should suppose that so much spinach would become monotonous.

There was a nice old lady back home—the one who complained of "bronchial trouble"—who always thought a sad play was "heart rendering."

The S. S. Van Dine method of detective-story telling, in brief: Kill off all the neighborhood but one; arrest the survivor.

All in favor of having that song faw down and go boom will please signify by the usual yawn.

It's nice to think people are better than you know they are.

AWAITING TEST OF CASING IN TRINITY SAND TEST FOR OIL

BIG GASSER STRUCK IN SLICK OPERATION IN KANSAS DISTRICT

MEXIA, March 20.—(SP)—A new system of testing an oil well to find if there are any crooked places in the casing will be used on the Trinity test of C. E. Lytle on the J. L. Thompson lease, near Mexia. This well, which has recently been cleaned out and new casing set at 6,035 feet, is cemented off now and cutting of the plug will await the new test. A method has been perfected in which a special glass bottle containing fluorine acid is lowered into the hole. Marks on the bottle are used to figure the slant of the hole. Experts in this work will be brought here for the test.

The bureau of mines has been asked to check formations found below the 6,035 foot level. The test is being cut deeper for geological information. Oil was not found at the Trinity depths sought by the drillers of the expensive well.

Big Kansas Gasser
 WINFIELD, Kas., March 20.—(AP)—E. Slick at No. 2 Frank Youle in the State School field here today reported seven million feet of gas in the 2,300 foot sand but the showing will be cased off and the tools run down to the Sololeuse line horizon where oil production is expected.

The top of the gas sand was found at 2,267 feet and the tools passed out of the formation at 2,285 feet. No. 2 Youle is in the northwest corner of 15-22-4 east. No. 3 Youle by Slick, a northwest diagonal offset, is drilling at 2,120 feet today and should reach shallow sand in a short time.

To Resume Drilling.
 MEXIA, March 20.—(SP)—Drilling will be resumed in a few days on the wildcat oil test of A. R. Richardson, et al, on the old D. L. McDonald lease, a farm now owned by Mrs. R. C. Jones. Surface casing of 32 feet was set during the past week. The test is three miles east and a mile and a half north of Mexia.

Maverick County Well
 DALLAS, March 20.—(AP)—Maverick county's first oil well, the Ryckade Oil corporation's No. 3 Chittum, completed last week has encountered salt water and is being drilled deeper. The producer came in with an initial flow of 200 barrels daily from a depth of 3,207 feet.

Grayson Test Spudded.
 DENISON, March 20.—(AP)—The well number one well was announced today to be spudded in Wednesday on the Owens farm five miles northwest of Denison. This is the fourth well to be drilled in the field. The other three were gasers with showing of oil.

FORT WORTH COUPLE GIVE ORPHANAGE HOSPITAL

The Reynolds Presbyterian Home announces the gift from Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Poston of Fort Worth, Texas, of the first unit of a hospital pictured above. This unit will be complete in itself, in that it will contain room for twenty-five patients divided into wards and private rooms for serious cases. It will also contain private quarters for the attendants, operating and dental rooms, sterilizing room, kitchen and dining room and the necessary bath and lockers. One of the features of the unit will be an elevated sun room where children recuperating from sickness might be placed and have the benefits of plenty of sunlight. This will fill a long felt need of the Home as there has been no hospital facilities whatsoever in the past. Construction will begin in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Poston are life-long Presbyterians, they were both raised in the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Mr. Poston was born and reared at Valley Mills, Texas, his parents coming to Texas from Fayetteville, Arkansas, in 1865. Mrs. Poston, who was Miss Maggie Pickard before her marriage, was born and reared in Weatherford, Texas, her parents coming to Texas in 1886 from Mt. Pleasant, Tenn. They are both active in their church at Fort Worth and throughout the Texas Synod.

Mr. Poston is an elder and Benevolent Treasurer of the First Presbyterian church at Fort Worth, Texas, of which Dr. J. K. Thompson is the pastor. He is also trustee of the Fort Worth Presbytery, chairman of the Board of Pensions of Fort Worth Presbytery, member of General Council of Texas Synod, U. S. A., and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Reynolds Presbyterian Home and also served on its executive committee.

Mrs. Poston is active in ladies' organizations of the church. Their son-in-law, the Rev. P. Marlin Baker, is pastor of the Third Avenue Presbyterian church of Corsicana, Texas.

Mr. Poston started his business career in 1884 at Grandbury, Texas, working in a dry goods store; in 1889 he organized the Baker-Pos-

DRY LEADERS PIN HOPE ON PADLOCK PLAN OF POLICE TO MAKE CAPITAL FULL SAHARA

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Dry leaders who have contended that the nation's capital should be the driest city in the United States are resting their hopes, for the time being at any rate, on the systematic padlocking campaign ordered by Edwin B. Hesse, the retiring superintendent of police.

Under the order, police commanders throughout the district of Columbia are searching their records for evidence which will satisfy the requirements for padlock proceedings as outlined for them by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover. He emphasized the necessity of being able to "show such a continuity of violations as to establish the fact that the particular premises are being used" regularly for keeping and selling liquor.

It was made clear at the White House yesterday that dramatic drives to enforce the prohibition laws are not a part of President Hoover's plan for carrying out his law enforcement policy. While the dry laws naturally come within the scope of that plan, its purpose is held to be much broader than the mere enforcement of one group of statutes, contemplating the tightening up of machinery for enforcement of laws in general.

LABOR TROUBLES THREATEN REFINERY AT PORT ARTHUR

PORT ARTHUR, March 20.—(AP)—Armed police squads were called to the Texas company refinery here today for the second time within 24 hours to quell an impending labor flare-up which started last night when about 100 laborers employed in cleaning coke stills walked off the job in protest against what they termed lowered wages.

Approximately 200 men gathered at the company gates this morning and were dispersed only after warning from a police riot squad that investigators would be arrested. At 11 o'clock last night approximately 80 men struck, 15 minutes later returning after labor leaders had remonstrated with them. The other 35 are said by police to have donned masks and formed the company' gates in efforts to intimidate other workers.

LEADERS TRAINING SCHOOL FOR SCOUT WORK OPENS FRIDAY

Business and professional men of Corsicana will gather together here Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Natarium for the first session of the Scout Leaders Training School, which is to be conducted on Friday nights for six consecutive weeks.

O. A. Kitterman, Dallas, executive of Circle 10, Boy Scouts of America, will be the instructor for the school, it has been announced by Wayne Howell, scoutmaster of the local training school.

Lloyd Wheelock, general chairman, said that his committee is very anxious to have as many business and professional men in the city as possible enrolled in this school.

"I just make this flat promise," he said, "if we can get you into the first meeting, you can't be kept away from future meetings with a machine gun. There is a barrel of fun to be had in these schools and lots to learn about the problems of boyhood. I am sure that every red-blooded business and professional man in Corsicana is interested in the boyhood of this community. In this school you will come to understand more about that so-called dangerous age of adolescence. We want to hold out the helping hand to the boyhood of Corsicana and let them know that we men, although busy with the cares of life, are nevertheless interested in boys of all ages. There is no greater work than Scouting and we hope that every business and professional man in the city will interest themselves in this school."

Poultry Expert Will Tour County During Week-end

DR. L. D. LeGEAR

Dr. L. D. LeGear of St. Louis, who speaks to poultrymen and dairymen at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce next Saturday afternoon, March 23rd, at 2 p. m., is possibly the best known specialist ever brought to Navarro county, it was pointed out at the chamber of commerce Wednesday.

For more than thirty-six years Dr. LeGear has been studying poultry and live stock. He is the author of several books, and has lectured in practically every state in the union, as well as in the provinces of Canada.

Letters have been sent to poultry breeders in Navarro county by Jack Megarity and Henry Gentry of the Navarro County Poultry association, urging them to help obtain large crowds for the three appearances of Dr. LeGear in this county. The visitor speaks Thursday night at Blooming Grove, Friday afternoon at 2 p. m., at the Majestic theatre in Kerens, and Saturday afternoon in Corsicana.

It is such an unusual opportunity that every effort is being made to get out both poultrymen and dairymen of the entire county to at least one of the meetings.

Dr. LeGear will tell of his successful methods of housing, feeding and caring for flocks; how to get the highest egg production; how to successfully feed and hatch baby chicks; how to cure poultry diseases; and how to feed care for and treat diseases of dairy cows, hogs and other live stock.

Poultry raisers who have any diseases in their flocks are invited to bring some of their fowls for free clinical diagnosis which will follow the lecture.

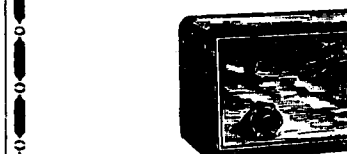

Women interested in poultry are especially invited. The meetings are absolutely free and open to any one interested.

Methodist Revival Services Attract Excellent Crowds

The Epworth League (senior and high) will be sponsors for the attendance at the First Methodist church Thursday night, Friday night the Weller Bible class will be sponsors, also on Friday night the Jubilee Singers (colored), will furnish several musical selections. These singers have been rehearsing for some time for this occasion and they promise some real music. They have appeared previously at the Methodist church and all who have heard them have expressed a desire to hear them again.

The morning services are attracting much interest. They last only one hour, from ten to eleven o'clock. Mrs. T. P. McLendon is presiding at the piano, and Van W. Harrell leading the music. The attendance is fine. Wednesday morning seeing a nice increase over Tuesday. Women especially are taking advantage of this morning service, enabling them to attend who who can not get away at night.

Rain at church hours Wednesday night cut into the attendance. However, there were over forty stewards present, the Wednesday night attendance being sponsored by this body. The stewards occupied the choir, singing several hymns, and also furnished a quartet who sang. This quartet was composed of Dr. Wilson David, W. J. Rochelle, Kelly McKown and W. P. Gog.

Prayer service was led by W. A. Tarver, Rev. A. W. Hall, Dr. Culver and Rev. Carraway. The text for Dr. Culver's sermon was taken from third chapter of Acts of apostles. The sermon was directed to the membership of the church. Dr. Culver stated that all of his sermons were based on sound religious principles and that he always strived to preach something that one could live by. His theme was, "The more you invested in your religion the more profit one would reap. He stated that this was true of any business enterprise, that one had to invest to reap profit. He made an earnest plea for the membership to invest their religion in others, investing in those out of the church, in those who are cold and indifferent toward their salvation.

Preaching tonight at 7:45. On Saturday morning there will be a special sermon for children and young people.

Goutre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery.

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goutre is not a disease, and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. E43, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goutre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goutre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goutre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goutre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today.—(Adv.)

PETITION CALL FOR BOND ELECTION VAN ZANDT COUNTY

WILLS POINT, March 21.—(Sp.)—The Van Zandt county highway committee of 31 met Monday night at the court house at Canton and voted to begin at once the circulation of petitions asking the commissioners court to order an election to determine if bonds will be issued to improve the highways. WOLVES ARE STILL RAVAGING DISTRICT EAST OF KERENS

KERENS, March 21.—(Sp.)—The rewards offered by the Kerens Wolf Club does not seem to have much effect on the wolf packs down here or the visitors that come down to catch the wolves east of Kerens. Farmers and stockmen report poultry, calves, pigs, etc., raided frequently. Residents east of Kerens hear the wolves howling nearly every night. Hunters have been there with hounds, but no rewards have been paid out yet. The wolf club here would gladly pay bounties on these wolves when they are brought in as they are playing havoc with poultry, pigs, and other animals. The farmers have to pen up their poultry and pet stock at night on account of the wolves.

Roaming the Realm of County Sports

By DELMORE OLSEN.

Navarro county University of Texas Interscholastic League track, field and literary meet Friday and Saturday of this week at the State Orphans Home. Everything is in readiness for the meet, O. F. Allen, director-general, announced Wednesday afternoon. The complete program has been made and judges secured for all events.

In the class A department, the State Home looks like a winner in athletic events. In fact, Corsicana high school, their only opponent, will be fortunate to capture four events, the 120 high hurdles, 220 low hurdles, mile run and high jump. In all other events, the State Home Lads have a decided advantage.

We watched the State Home tracksters go through their paces the other day. Coach Fletcher has some excellent sprinters and dash men, including several district winners last year. Ellsworth, one of the outstanding cinder pounders for the State Home, was described by Coach Fletcher as being the best quarter mile runner developed at the State Home in recent years, well, the way that boy ran the quarter mile was a sight to behold, the 440 yards were run in 55 seconds, considerably lower than we had ever seen the quarter mile reeled off before.

Eldon Megarity, Corsicana high school's entry in the high and low hurdles, and high jump, is conceded first place in all these events by the State Home team. Doc Nowland, district entry in the mile run last year, is expected to win the mile run this year.

As soon as the Navarro county meet is completed the boys in the county schools will be turning their attention to baseball. A number of strong nines are found in the county each year and plenty of competition between the different baseball teams is always shown. Purdon, Frost, Kerns, Providence and Embouse usually have the strongest nines in the county.

A number of Corsicana high school boys have asked us to select an all-class basketball team. Here goes: Forward—Frost; center—Smith and Purdon; guard—Kerns; point guard—Embouse. Usually have the strongest nines in the county.

BASEBALL STATUS OF CORSICANA IS TO BE MADE SOON

EXPECTED DEFINITE ANNOUNCEMENT WILL BE MADE WEDNESDAY

Just what the baseball situation for Corsicana is for the approaching season is not known but unofficial investigation shows there is a strong possibility that replies from the questionnaire sent out is hitting a responsive chord.

Beauford H. Jester, local baseball vice president, who has been sent out letters to individuals and firms of the city asking for donations to make Corsicana's baseball club a reality and from the number of replies coming back to his office, it is thought that there is a possibility that baseball will be saved for Corsicana. Each mail brings replies to the letters sent out, it was learned at Mr. Jester's office, but what the replies are is a matter of conjecture. However, baseball fans are of the opinion that if the individuals and merchants were not interested in the keeping of the club in Corsicana, replies would not be made.

Mr. Jester spent several days last week in Austin attending the Forty-eighth Rotary District conference. He will return to Corsicana early Wednesday morning and definite announcement of the tone and contents of the letters sent out will be made.

WAXAHACHIE, March 20.—(Sp.)—Tracy Varnell and Campbell Pugh of Corsicana have been awarded honor sweaters for their work on the 1928 Trinity University football team. The sweaters were presented in chapel recently by Harry Holton, Tiger coach. Twenty-five members of the team received the awards.

Spring training for the 1929 Trinity football team has started under the direction of Coaches Logan Stollenwerck and Leland J. Wilkins. Stollenwerck, a former S. M. U. star who was twice named for the All-American team by the late Walter Camp, recently was appointed head coach at Trinity, while Wilkins has been with the Tigers since 1924.

With fifteen or sixteen letter-men expected to return, Coach Stollenwerck will have a veteran team at the beginning of the season.

JEFFRIES-CLANCY SOCKED HOME RUNS DURING AFTERNOON

HARDAWAY, ROOKIE, TURN-
ED IN MASTERFUL HURL-
ING FOR STEERS

BY PAUL MOORE

Tuesday afternoon, before several hundred Corsicana and Navarro county fans, the Dallas Steers turned on the Chicago White Sox of the American League to break the Chisox jinx which has followed the Steers all of the exhibition season to turn in an 8-7 victory after losing four games to the American League. The game had many interesting features while at other times the play was neither up to class A or major league performance. Clancy, first-sacker of the Sox, who relieved the colorful Art Shires, eluded a home run over right field which found one runner aboard in the seventh inning, while Jeffries, infliker of the Steers, was favoring out the short stop position, whammed one over the left field wall in the fourth that found two runners burdening the bags.

Hardaway, rookie, went the first batters in the Steers and allowed the Sox only three hits and one run.

The Steers drew the first blood in the first inning when a rally was made and another was added in the second stanza. In the second, Chicago made a sacrifice fly against the Steers added three to give them a 5 to 1 lead. In the seventh, Bray was hammered unmercifully when R. Moore walked, Cissell doubled, Swanson singled to right, scoring R. Moore, and Cissell scored when Koster riddled. Metzler, who had a sacrifice fly against right field fence to Jones, scoring Swanson, Kerr filed to Koster and Clancy hit his home run.

Sixth Seventh Rallies
The seventh inning rally sent the Chisox ahead and in the Steers, a single to left, Morse singled to left, Jones laid down a perfect bunt and heat it out for a single. Welland made a wild pitch and both Jeffries and Morse scored before catcher Mealey could find the ball. Davis and in the fourth, Jim Moore singled to right, scoring Jones, which sent the Steers into a lead which never was overtaken. In the ninth inning, the Sox threatened the Steers when Mealey walked, Hunnifield, batting for Welland, fouled out, and Metzler, Metzler walked and Hunnifield was allowed to trot around to third. Blackerby went in as a pinch-hitter for Kerr and singled to left, scoring Hunnifield but Clancy hit into a fast double-play, Metzler to Jeffries to Wells to retire the side and win the game.

Fans Partisan
The fans parted cheered both sides frequently, but were partial to the Thundering Herd and the Steers always got the bigger hand. Koster made a sensational and regular running catch of a fly off the bat of Reynolds, outfielder, in the fourth inning, which drew the biggest hand of the afternoon. Reynolds formerly played with the Palestine Pals of the Lone Star league. Blackerby, pinch-hitter, who batted in a run for the Sox in the ninth inning, broke into baseball with the Austin Senators of the Texas association and later played with Waco.

Metzler, Sox outfielder, formerly played with the Wichita Falls Raiders. Shires, Sox pitcher, was former captain of the Sox, formerly was with Waco. He hammered out two hits in three trips off the delivery of Hardaway. Shires' two hits and Cissell's double were the only bingles made off the delivery of Hardaway.

Redfern, third sacker, formerly was in the Texas league Fort Worth club. Randy Moore, outfielder, formerly was with Waco. Mealey, catcher, formerly was with Dallas.

STATE HOME TRACK AND FIELD TEAM IS READY FOR TIGERS

By BOB HALE

After pushing through their hardest week of practice of the current track season, the State Home Lads, District 14 track champions, are anxious to show for the county track and field meet to be held at the State Home Friday and Saturday. Plans for dual meets with nearby schools fell through and the Lads have been forced to test out their prowess only by the stop watch, which has revealed some wonderful results to the protégés of Coach E. L. Fletcher.

The most wonderful development seems to have been made in the relay, with the team reeling off the mile in the fast time of 3 minutes, 34 seconds on one occasion, and trotting off the 880-yards relay in 1 minute, 33 seconds on another. These are the two relays that the team will enter in the S. M. U. relay games to be held in Dallas March 30.

An announcement Tuesday from Athletic Director A. A. Vance, revealed that the Lads have secured her entire blanks in too late for the meet, and that the school will be barred from participating in the track and field meet. The passing of Kerens from the athletic picture turns the team into a dual affair, with State Home and Corsicana as the only two participants.

With Kerens out of the championship picture, the Lads have turned to the Corsicana High Tigers, who until last year have dominated the Class A track and field competition as State Home has the Class B. Last year the Lads came into Class A track and field competition to battle with Corsicana and Kerens, and wrested the laurels from the hands of Corsicana's Tigers. In addition to that, the Lads have won the Class A all-around banner.

This year the Lads are just as anxious to keep the laurels that they have just earned, and, under rigid training rules, they have trained for this contesting meet. Last year the Lads not only won the county track and field meet, but two weeks after their victory at the State Home, they journeyed to El Paso and there copped the district banner from the representatives of Corsicana, Cleburne and several smaller schools of the district. This year, however, the Lads cannot boast of the Locke, who leaped 6 feet 2 inches in high jump last year. Knight, brilliant hurdle man; Haley, fleet relay man, and several other stars, but they do boast of the same middle-distance men, who last year showed their heels to the entire county and district and who this year seem to have developed into a relay team that is most certainly going to make someone step before the track season is over.

At the time the Lads heard from the den of the Corsicana Tigers. Just what those cinder path artists will do in the meet is yet a mystery, but it is a pretty sure bet that they will flash something that they have not shown to date. However, it is also a pretty sure bet that the Lads will show up better during the meet than they have at any other time to date, and it will be no more "the royal" when the representatives of the two schools tangle in the finals of the meet Saturday.

The Lads have been preparing for the meet for a long time, and they say they feel that the county play has never seen before in the way of records. The Lads have begun to look upon a meet as a failure for them unless they finish high up in points scored, and for the past six years, they have copped the county championship. For five years in succession, they won the Class B championship and last year, as the baby of the Class A division, they piled up enough points to copped the meet. This year they are just as anxious to keep up their unblemished record, and the fans are urged to watch their performance during the meet.

Cox, 3 hits, 0 runs in 1 (pitched to 3 men, none out in seventh); Welland, 2 hits, 3 runs (all earned) in 2; Hardaway, 3 hits 1 run (1 earned) in 6; Bray 4 hits, 5 runs (5 earned) in 1; L. Cox, 1 hit (earned) in 2. Winning pitcher—Bray. Losing pitcher—G. Cox. Struck out—By Dugan 1, Welland 1, Hardaway 2. Bases on balls—Off Dugan 6, Hardaway 1, Bray 1, L. Cox 2. Wild pitch—Welland. Left on bases—White Sox 5, Dallas 6. Double play—Morse to Jeffries to Davis. Caught stealing—By Berg (Huber). Time of game—2 hours. Umpires—Erwin and Barnabe.

TWO BIG INNINGS GAVE BENNIES AN EASY VICTORY 11-3

COUNTRY DAVIS WHAMMED
HOME RUN OVER CENTER-
FIELD FENCE

By PAUL MOORE

Monday afternoon a practice seven-inning game was played by the Dallas Steers, the Bennies downing the Boggles, 11-3, and as a climax to this game, Manager Stock sent the Mavericks through strenuous infield and outfield practice before he called it a day. Manager Stock garnered a double and two singles. Bill Huber doubled in the fifth inning for the Bennman with the bases loaded and in the fourth inning made a real stop when he appeared the drive off the bat of Jim Moore.

Country Davis overpowered one of the slants dished out to him in the seventh inning for a home run over the center field fence.

Tipton and Moore of the Bennmen held the opposition in hand while Wilson was hammered off the hill in the fifth and Moncus was rapped heard during the remainder of the inning. In the seventh inning, Moncus was wild and issued several passes.

St. Rosenthal, outfielder, who was a holdout for several weeks, this spring, reported to the Steer camp Monday and worked for the first time in Corsicana.

The usual morning workout of the Steers was not held Monday morning as the club did not arrive in Corsicana until shortly before noon Monday.

Albert Leicy, short stop, who may report to the Muskogee club of the Western association, played short stop for the Boggles, and looked good in the field. He had not worked out prior to Monday afternoon and failed to get a hit, but in a semi-pro league in Oklahoma last year, he socked the ball for a .360 clip.

OUR CHANGING WORLD ORDER IS A CHALLENGE TO CHURCH

Everything in the Melting Pot, Including Methods of Missions — Some Things That Emerge Unchanged

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Are we now at the birth of a new era in human affairs? Many signs seem to indicate it. A question mark hangs over the accepted simply because it is old. Every belief, every institution, every usage, is subject to challenge. Forms of organized life are undergoing vast changes. The family, the state, the church, the whole social order, are under scrutiny. Is there anything left that is sure and unchangeable?

Especially among thoughtful and responsible Christians are these times of heart-searching. For plainly, the Church is in the midst of a period of definition and adjustment. Intelligent church members seem disinclined to accept unquestioningly the programmes handed down by ecclesiastical leaders. Church attendance in many places is declining, although the old idea that the ends of benevolence were fully served when a contribution was trustfully deposited on the plate at the Sunday morning service has been seriously shaken. The businesslike budget system, widely acclaimed as the solution of church financial problems, has in many cases dried up the springs of interest in individual causes and atrophied the sense of personal responsibility. As a result, it is now easier to secure money for a new local church building than for any missionary cause. The international enterprises of Christianity are imperilled at the home treasury.

Anybody with even a slight knowledge of missionary conditions knows that the chances are coming to pass on the field with kaleidoscopic swiftness are really fundamental. The recent transformation in China, with its revolution against western control of Christianity is symptomatic of the state of the whole East. The occidental missionary is no longer accepted as an inherently superior person; nor is westernization a tenable ground of missions.

Some Great Changes Ahead. Nationalism has challenged the worth of foreign faiths; and has apparently doomed certain established forms of mission work. Probably the need for mission schools and mission hospitals and mission orphanages will steadily diminish as the rise of nationalism sweeps the international enterprise of Christianity into the future development. The tides of the times are flooding the whole world with education and medicine and social service.

There is an interesting field of investigation in the study of just how far new methods of world-wide communication have become media of civilization and Christianization. All the lore of the Orient and all of its mechanical appliances are being put into the possession of the Orient.

Outraged by their new knowledge of the world, non-Christian religions are openly challenging certain stereotyped forms of the missionary presentation. Most readers remember when some of the darker facts of the unpleasant book, "Mother India," where staples of missionary addresses. Nowadays no missionary from India would consider for a minute the use of these stock stories; he prefers to speak instead in the sympathetic terms of "The Christ of The Indian Road."

Now this passing of the old simplifications and ingenious generalizations puts squarely up to Christian statescraft, and to lay intelligence, a whole new set of problems. No longer do the churches accept the infallibility of board secretaries; those mail messages has so often been the cry of the horseleech's daughter, "Give! Give! Give!" The people who pay the bills are asking for a fuller knowledge of the facts. The conditions of the whole world are the concern and responsibility of the whole church. Officials who would retain the confidence of their constituents must share fuller information with them.

Some Things That Stand. In this problem time, it is desirable to drive in a few stakes of certainty. First, as to foreign missions. It is a time to go over our whole elaborate and intricate machinery, and test what is functioning and what ought to be scrapped. There is no method or organization or institution that is too sacred to be made to conform to reality.

At the heart of the whole missionary enterprise, old and new, lies the Christian obligation to bear witness to Jesus Christ as the Saviour of mankind. That is central and vital, and nothing else is. Missionaries are primarily those sent to tell the Story. Whatever their approach or their methods, they are, first of all and last of all, to testify to the love of God as exemplified in His Son, the Saviour.

They are not missionaries of a new civilization or harbingers of occidental trade; they are messengers of the Glad Tidings of the Gospel of God. This is their divine commission. In the name and power of Christ, they are sent to present Him, and His saving, healing, serving ministry, to all the world that knows Him not. And ever their interpret missionary changes aught, the present trend is chiefly toward this apostolic simplicity of witness-bearing.

The radio, the printing press, the phonograph, and many forms of swift transportation, have put new agencies of Gospel proclamation into the hands of the missionary. We may soon see the day when the mission station will be primarily a radio station. "He hath put all things under His feet."

As To The Money Side. In the new day of missions, adequate support will rest upon the twin pillars of a sense of stewardship and of intelligent knowledge. Christians can never escape the duty of giving money for God's work—though they should face the difficult responsibility of making sure that it really is God's work. Therefore they should give intelligently, systematically, proportionately and sacrificially.

These are the brands borne by Christian giving; heathen giving may be perfunctory, lazy, selfish and stupid giving, merely to purchase a brief glow of self-satisfaction or to "acquire merit." But the Christian must give himself—his intelligence and his sympathy—with every gift he makes to the causes of benevolence and religion.

BRITISH ECONOMIST PREDICTS GREATEST FINANCIAL CRISIS

MANCHESTER, March 19.—(S)—The gravest financial crisis in the world's history was described by Sir George Paish, well known economist, as threatening modern business. Sir George started his auditors at the National Free Trade conference here with his prediction.

"I speak with the highest authority, and I challenge any one to deny it, when I say we are threatened with the greatest financial crisis the world has ever seen because the governments of the world have followed the policy of trade restriction, preventing debtors from paying their debts," Sir George declared.

"We are face to face with this crisis. The greatest authorities in this country and in the United States expect it to come this spring and unless this policy of safeguarding or protection is checked, it means disaster to the world."

"I am not exaggerating," Sir George concluded. "I wish I were."

INSURANCE MAN IS CHARGED IN DEATH DALLAS SALESMAN

FORMER STENOGRAPHER OF BUSINESS MAN ALLEGED CAUSE OF SLAYING

DALLAS, Mar. 20. (AP)—Attacked with a knife because, he says, he would not sign an agreement binding himself to have nothing more to do with his former stenographer, G. B. Pierce, Dallas insurance man, shot and instantly killed Andrew M. Blue, Jr., stationery salesman, in Pierce's office in a downtown office building here today.

Pierce, slashed on the neck and wounded in the left arm by his own pistol, was released on a $5,000 bond after a charge of murder was filed against him by William McCraw, district attorney. He is married and has two children. Blue is unmarried.

The paper which Pierce says Blue tried to force him to sign, involves Miss Irma Tarrant, 21, until last week an employee in Pierce's insurance office.

Refuses Sign Paper. According to Pierce's statement after the killing, Blue wrote the statement in ink as the men sat on opposite sides of a desk. It included a clause that Pierce was to have no conversations with Miss Tarrant.

"When I refused to sign it," Blue grabbed a knife from my desk and started slashing my neck," Pierce declared. "I couldn't stand there and let him kill me. I grabbed a pistol out of my desk drawer and shot him twice."

One bullet pierced Blue's breast. The other went through his shoulder and through the wall into an adjoining office. Blue fell with a loud cry on the opposite side of the desk from Pierce, and lay still full length on the rug. He was dead when the emergency hospital doctor arrived.

Pierce ran from the office, bleeding from cuts on his neck and the wound in his arm, to the office of Dr. W. M. Sykes in the same building where his wounds were dressed.

Son of the Kappa Sigma fraternity house at Southern Methodist university here. His father is Rev. Henry B. Blue of Tulehoma, Tenn., and his brother is Rev. William Blue, pastor of the Blakemore Methodist church of Nashville, Tenn. He has no other surviving relatives.

Miss Tarrant was not in Dallas today, but was notified of the tragedy and said she would come here. She resigned her place in Pierce's office last week and went with Blue to her former home at Bullard, Texas, where her family lives.

The Times Herald today says that her brother reported over long distance telephone he knew of nothing between Miss Tarrant and Blue or Pierce.

Blue went to Pierce's insurance office shortly before the shooting with W. M. Frierson, a fellow salesman at the Clark and Courts company. H. T. Hardy, an employee of Pierce's, was in the ante-room as was Pierce's niece. Frierson did not remain in the private office with Pierce and Blue during the quarrel.

Frierson strolled into the ante-room, stood about for a short time, and as the voices of the men began to rise in anger, left the office.

Hardy "heard some fussing" but was busy and paid no attention until he heard Pierce shout he would sign the paper. This was followed by a scuffle, two shots and a loud cry, he said.

M. M. Cherry and Miss Velma Scott, in the adjoining office, ducked for cover as one of the bullets crashed through the wall and showered them with plaster.

"I heard two shots and a scream," Miss Scott said. "I got behind the filing cabinet. Mr. Cherry took refuge under a desk."

FARM BOY IS REAL HOPE OF SUCCESSFUL FUTURE OF FARMERS

ST. LOUIS POULTRY - LIVE-STOCK EXPERT TALKS ON AGRICULTURE OUTLOOK

The farm boy is the real hope for the successful future of agriculture, in the opinion of Dr. L. D. LeGear of St. Louis, Mo., nationally known authority on live stock, who arrived in Corsicana late Wednesday to spend the remainder of the week for a series of talks in the county at the invitation of the Corsicana chamber of commerce.

"It is hard for the average farmer to get out of the one crop rut but to the younger generation a farm gospel of a hen, cow, and sow is more than a slogan—it is a basic policy for farm prosperity."

Dr. LeGear has been in Corsicana in other years and he notes on this portion of Texas a very marked swing toward dairy development as well as towards poultry. His last visit to Corsicana was with the good will delegation of the St. Louis chamber of commerce several years ago.

The visitor is an old acquaintance of J. S. Halley, superintendent of the State Home, and arrangements were made today for Dr. LeGear to speak to the Home students at the assembly program Friday morning. He will visit a number of farms in the county during the three days in company with Special Agent Henry Gentry.

Although born in the north, Dr. LeGear has a warm spot in his heart for Texas, he explained Thursday morning. After graduating from a veterinary college in Canada he came to Texas about 34 years ago and started in a very modest way in Austin a business which he has since made nationally known. He has an interesting life of personal history. His first office was adjoining that of Albert Sydney Burleson, then a young lawyer with possibly no thought of ever becoming postmaster-general of the United States.

Dr. LeGear has a keen interest in meeting people and is looking forward to meeting personally and advising with as many farmers of the county as possible during the three days here. He is stopping at the Navarro Hotel.

Business men as well as farmers are invited to the lecture at the chamber of commerce Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m.

SHE TRAVELED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS IN SEARCH OF HEALTH
"For fifteen years I have done nothing but travel over the United States, Canada and Cuba in a fruitless search for health. Three weeks ago I began the Sargon treatment and today I am a well and happy woman."

MRS. M. M. LINK should restore me so quickly and so completely after all these years of suffering and failure is marvelous and I want my friends everywhere to know about this wonderful medicine.

"Even the lightest meals would cause me to suffer tortures from indigestion, gas pains, and smothering spells. Sometimes I would just have to gasp for breath. Nervousness made my nights most sleepless. Rheumatism troubled me a great deal, too, and my liver was so badly out of order I had to take strong purgatives continually."

"I took treatments everywhere without relief, and finally made up my mind to travel with the seasons and live the rest of my days as comfortably as possible. Had anyone told me that any medicine would do what Sargon has done for me I could not have believed them. It put my stomach in perfect condition and drove the rheumatism right out of my system. I eat anything, am no longer nervous and sleep like a healthy child. I feel strong and well all the time. Sargon Soft Mass Pills completely overcame my liver troubles. They act gently yet thoroughly."

"To enjoy such splendid health as Sargon has given me is the greatest blessing in the world, and I feel it my duty to let other sufferers know about this wonderful treatment."

This remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. M. M. Link, wealthy resident of 863 Tuxedo Blvd., Webster Grove, Mo. Mrs. Link is spending the winter at Grande Court, San Antonio, where she went in her long search for health.

Sargon may be obtained in Corsicana from McPherson Drug Co.; in Kerens from Walker Drug Store; in Rice from Rice Pharmacy; in Richland from Brown Drug Co.; in Blooming Grove from Old Corner Drug Store, and in Dawson from Loveless Drug Co. (Adv.)

For this service a nominal charge is made.

REHABILITATION IS IMPORTANT WORK IN FLOODED DISTRICTS

QUICK RESPONSE TO THE APPEALS FOR FUNDS IS REPORTED FORTHCOMING

MONTGOMERY, March 20. (AP)—Rehabilitation of flooded sections of Alabama, Georgia and Florida was under way today, residents of the stricken areas led the van, directed and assisted by the Red Cross, United States coast guard, the public health service and state guards.

Quick response has been made to appeals for funds and approximately the $250,000, the goal set had been reached today. The amount, however, is not expected to more than meet the immediate needs. The Alabama congressional delegation expected to meet with Governor Biggs, Graves, today to plan a request for a federal appropriation. The governor has announced he would call a special session of the legislature to assist the relief work.

High waters still covered considerable portions of the lowlands of the Alabama river in Alabama, the Flint and Chattahoochee in Georgia and the Apalachicola river in Florida. The latter threatens to add additional persons from their homes.

The death toll remained at twenty today while it is estimated between 15,000 and 20,000 had fled from their homes.

Residents of Biba and Geneva, Ala., hardest hit of any of the southern towns, were allowed, in limited numbers, to enter their villages today. All were inoculated against typhoid, vaccinated, tagged and carried a 24-hour supply of fresh water and food. All children were required to remain in refugee camps.

QUINCY, Ill., March 20. (AP)—The Mississippi river was approaching the top of its levees today, still rising after reaching the highest stage in thirteen years.

The river was expected to reach its crest here some time today, just short of the flood stage of twenty-two feet. There was danger that the levees, weakened by the continual pressure of the last few days, might give way.

Seepage has already caused some damage and cracks are being stopped with sand bags. Firemen were called out to pump out overflow in manufacturing plants along the river here.

J. J. Beal of Tupelo was in the city Thursday afternoon attending to business.

Coming to Palace

Milton Sills in "The Barker"

"Hey, Rub!" This famous carnival cry for help is shouted into the night. In a moment the entire troupe is up in arms. The old colonel, the owner of the show, wields a gnarled cane, his silk hat flashing in the pale lantern light. The fat lady pounces upon a roughneck and subdues him merely by sitting on his chest. The hula-hula dancer who swings a large stick, and the men, fists flying, rush into the fight with wild abandon. That's the life of the carnival; one minute disrupted by internal jealousies, the next an inseparable whole, battling against a gang of mill hands. And it's all very fascinating.

It is in such a vivid setting that Milton Sills, Dorothy Mackall and Betty Compton are featured in First National's latest presentation, "The Barker," an engrossing and thrilling melodrama of life behind the scenes of the "big tent." Based on the famous play of the same name which ran for more than one year on Broadway, "The Barker" follows the present day trend to honestly depict the work, play and loves of a colorful, adventurous folk who tour the country ballyhooing the "greatest show on earth."

Milton Sills plays the part of Nifty Miller, the popular Barker of the troupe, whose artful line of talk entices the people to see the wonders of an "alluring" side show. Betty Compton is cast as Carrie, a dancer, who is madly in love with Nifty. But when Nifty's son, Chris, played by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., joins the troupe during his summer vacation, things do not run so smoothly, for Nifty is compelled to play the part of the father and not the lover. Carrie becomes insanely jealous of Chris and bribes Lou, jealous of Dorothy Mackall, a pretty member of the outfit, to make the youthful Chris fall in love with her. But Nifty has his heart set on Chris' college education. He insists the boy not to have anything to do with the girls. But Chris proceeds to fall in love with Lou. And then Lou discovers that she, too, truly loves Chris. This theme is developed with honesty and sympathy and carries the picture to a vital and highly dramatic climax.

The entire cast is an excellent one, each actor and actress interpreting their respective roles with understanding and sympathy.

"The Barker," directed by George Fitzmaurice, comes to the Palace Theatre, Corsicana, on Monday.

YOUTHFUL SURGEON OPERATED ON HIS BOYHOOD FRIEND

Boyhood and school day chums were re-united for a time Tuesday afternoon under rather strange circumstances. Dan Comfort, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Comfort, became seriously ill and an operation was deemed advisable by attending physicians.

At the request of the ill youth, his friend, Dr. William T. Shell, Jr., was called from Baylor at Dallas to perform the operation. Dr. L. E. Keltou, Jr., another boyhood friend, assisted in the operation, which was performed under the scrutiny of Dr. W. T. Shell, Sr. William completed his medical work at the University of Pennsylvania last June and Leslie finished at Northwestern University at the same time.

Asks Supreme Court Review of Conviction
WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—William Woodman, Galveston, sentenced to one year in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth and fined $1,000 for conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, asked the supreme court today to review his conviction.

Woodman was indicted with six others in the management of a watermelon garden at 2222 Q street in Galveston. The indictment said the garden was equipped for liquor dispensing.

Woodman asserted he had been freed on 23 other counts of indictment and that evidence relating to these had been received improperly for the purpose of convicting him.

Danube On Great Rampage Following Melting of Ice

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia, March 20. (AP)—Thousands of families along the Danube lost their homes, cattle, and other belongings today in the worst flood since 1872. The great river, which is choked with millions of tons of thawing ice, was rising steadily and threatening further disaster. Church bells tolled along its 1,800 mile length warning Riparian dwellers to flee for their lives.

Augmented by thousands of mountain streams, lakes and other tributaries, the swollen waters of the Danube were rushing past towns and villages along the banks throwing huge ice barriers around Bratislava and other towns, completely isolating them.

Czechoslovakia artillerymen and engineers, after failing to demolish 40-foot ice barriers with mortars, howitzers and high explosives, bored large holes in the masses of ice and inserted large projectiles which they exploded by electricity. The terrific detonations of the shells startled the populations with revived memories of the world war.

Stolen Body of Floyd Collins Is Recovered

HORSE CAVE, Ky., March 20. (AP)—The body of Floyd Collins who died after a 17-day battle to save his life when he was trapped in sand cave in 1925 today again rested in its bronze and glass casket in Crystal cave, after its theft and recovery yesterday. Dr. H. B. Thomas, owner of Crystal cave, said an investigation now under way would be pushed until the thieves were apprehended.

The body, which Dr. Thomas says has become completely mummified since its burial in Crystal cave, was missed yesterday morning. Aid of sheriffs of three counties was sought and yesterday afternoon the body was found on the banks of Green river, wrapped in a burlap sack, about 400 yards from the entrance to the cave.

Dr. Thomas is at loss to account for the motive of the thieves. He says he has no doubt that they intended to return to the river bank for the remains of the mountaineer cave explorer later.

Execution Stay Given McKenkie For Two Months

AUSTIN, March 19.—(A. J. (Pete) McKenkie, sentenced to die in the electric chair at Huntsville Saturday, has been given a two months stay of execution by Governor Moody. The governor said press of legislative business now before him would prevent his giving proper consideration to McKenkie's application for commutation of the death sentence, at this time. The board of pardons has given the governor recommendations in the case, but these have not been made public.

McKenkie was convicted in San Antonio for the murder of Chief of Detectives Sam Street of that city on Sept. 10, 1927.

BIG CELEBRATION AT OPENING LOCAL AIR FIELD PLANNED

NAVARRO COUNTY SHRINE CLUB UNDERWRITES EX- PENSE FOR AIRPORT

Underwriting the preliminary expense of conditioning the grounds of the Municipal airport within a few minutes time, members of the Navarro County Shrine Club launched a vigorous campaign for the great celebration to be staged April 27-28 when the Coronado airport will be dedicated and put into active service. More than 100 nobles from all parts of the country enjoyed buffet lunch and the fast boxing card provided for the evening at the Coronado.

Members of the Dallas baseball club were among the guests. After an attractive buffet lunch of barbecued meats and all the trimmings, W. C. Stroube, president of the Shrine Club, called the meeting to order. He briefly explained the situation. Pointing out that the directors of the club had decided to undertake the launching of the port, he traced the early history of the city for such and enterprise, calling attention to the rapid growth of interest in the Navarro county, the long search for a suitable site, the leasing of the location by the city commission, erection of a hangar by H. J. Nichols, and the conditioning of the field now under way.

Through an agreement with H. J. Nichols, sub-lessee of the airport, Mr. Stroube announced that the Shrine club had secured all of the concession privileges for the opening day, and that a general admission fee of fifty cents had been decided upon; the club would have to spend about $10,000 to put the ground in proper condition.

Airports Necessities
A few years ago airplanes and airports came under the head of playing the speaker declared, but now they have become necessities in modern commerce and in the few years' time an airport will be as essential as a railroad depot. He announced that Silliman Evans, vice-president and technical director of the Texas Air Transport, and Charles Pedley, former Corsicana pilot, also connected with the transport interests, expressed surprise that the airport had made such strides, and promised their cooperation in every possible way to making the port a success.

Mr. Stroube declared that there was a strong possibility that regular passenger service to Dallas, Houston and New Orleans would be launched from the local airport on opening day through the nearby terminals of the Texas Air Transport and the Southern Air Transport lines now established. What a few years' time, he declared that Corsicana would be a stopping point along the regular routes of the great passenger, freight, express and mail lines of the United States.

The cooperation of army air officials at San Antonio, Austin and Fort Sill had been promised in staging a real air show and every effort will be made to make Navarro county and the surrounding territory air-minded.

Saturday Big Day.
According to plans rapidly being developed, Saturday April 27 will be a general trades day and dedication day, featured by a parade which will show the various steps in the advance of transportation. Bands from nearby Shrine temples have been tentatively secured for the day. An elaborate program of field events including airplane races and stunts of all kinds is being arranged. Sunday will be a duplicate of the field events. According to a preliminary survey, it is estimated that between five and ten thousand people will be brought to Corsicana by the two day show. Some of the railroads are now investigating the possibilities of running special trains into Corsicana.

When the meeting was thrown open for discussion, Charles G. Jester called the attention of the nobles to the fact that while Shrine-dom was the playground of Masonry, that there was behind the play a serious program of service, and that in sponsoring the opening of the airport the club had an opportunity to render a great service to the community, and to the order if every noble would cooperate and secure the aid of the people of their communities. He moved the acceptance of the responsibilities by the club as a whole.

Wayne E. Howell, Corsicana city attorney, pointed out that while there had been some objections to the city spending the money for the lease of the airport that several years ago there was a law against use of bathbaths, running trains over six miles an hour and other similar state statutes. If anyone had said a few years ago that the aviation industry would duplicate the feat of the automobile industry, he would have been called a fool but this very event has taken place.

The attorney predicted that within five years' time the present site would be outgrown and that more land would be needed, and by that time every citizen would be willing to vote sufficient bonds to build an airport as large as needed. He asserted that within a few years time the trunk airlines of America, and that the undertaking was one that the club should be glad to undertake for the service to the community alone.

W. Roy Christian, secretary of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, recalled that a few years ago in rural communities were afraid to purchase automobiles because it would scare their customers away, and pointed out a similarity between the auto and airplane situations today.

Lowry Martin, publisher of the Corsicana Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light, complimented the club on having every organization enthusiastically behind the project. He narrated some of the difficulties that Brownville experienced before they opened their new international airport, but declared that now any amount of money could be secured for the project. He pointed out that the club had secured all of the concession privileges for the opening day, and that a general admission fee of fifty cents had been decided upon; the club would have to spend about $10,000 to put the ground in proper condition.

Mr. Stroube declared that there was a strong possibility that regular passenger service to Dallas, Houston and New Orleans would be launched from the local airport on opening day through the nearby terminals of the Texas Air Transport and the Southern Air Transport lines now established. What a few years' time, he declared that Corsicana would be a stopping point along the regular routes of the great passenger, freight, express and mail lines of the United States.

MISS ANNE MORROW TO BECOME BRIDE OF LINDBERGH IN JUNE

NOT YET DEFINITELY DECIDED WHERE WEDDING WILL TAKE PLACE, HOWEVER

MEXICO CITY, March 21.—(AP)—Miss Anne Morrow is to be a June bride.

Miss Morrow and her fiancé, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, themselves have authorized announcement that they will be married in that month. They have not decided, however, whether the wedding is to take place in Mexico or in the United States.

The colonel is expected to fly back to Mexico City within a few weeks for another visit with Miss Morrow, at which time something more definite as to their plans will be revealed.

The announcement of the wedding arrangements was made yesterday by persons close to the betrothed pair in line with promises nearly a month ago during the colonel's visit here that the plans of the young couple would be revealed in due course and that there would not be an elopement or secret wedding.

There was speculation here as to whether the present international conditions in Mexico could cause the wedding to be held outside this country. Mexican officials have repeatedly expressed their hope that the two will be married in Mexico, where their romance began.

FINAL ARGUMENTS IN IMPEACHMENT OF OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 20.—(AP)—Final arguments in the impeachment of Gov. Henry S. Johnston were continued today before the state senate court, with the case expected to be submitted to the court in the late afternoon.

Two of the seven allotted hours of argument were consumed yesterday and the remaining five intervened before a vote could be taken. There was some uncertainty as to whether a vote immediately would follow the closing arguments, since the members of the court have jurisdiction to delay the vote if they wish.

Argument today was opened by Grady Lewis, Creek county representative and a member of the prosecuting house board of managers. Lewis fiercely attacked the contention of Johnston's attorneys that the Governor had at all times acted in good faith. The prosecutor reviewed evidence in the various charges and attempted to show good faith was not present.

THREE MEN ARE BURNED TO DEATH AT OIL REFINERY

MARCUS HOOK, Pa., March 20.—(AP)—Three men were burned to death and three others seriously injured today in a fire at the Sun Oil company plant here, after an explosion in an oil still.

Scores of workers and firemen were slightly burned and were treated on the scene by physicians summoned from nearby towns.

The dead are: James McAbee, Jr., 25, of Marcus Hook, a still operator, and Joseph C. Bennett, 35, Linwood, Pa., a compressor fireman.

The still which exploded was filled with crude oil in process of "cracking up" into gasoline and by-products. Eight other tanks filled with crude and lubricating oils caught fire.

CHECKS OF BIDDERS ON STATE LAND ARE ORDERED RELEASED

AUSTIN, March 20.—(AP)—Checks totaling more than $4,000,000, representing bonuses offered on University of Texas land mineral rights advertised for sale in January, have been released through agreement of attorneys on both sides of litigation over vested rights of bidders.

The January 2 sale was stopped by injunction suit brought by the state joined by the university regents, and lands advertised for other dates during the month were withdrawn from the market by the legislature.

It will require several other days to tabulate the bids, J. T. Robinson, land commissioner, announced. It was agreed remittances of high bidders would be held pending outcome of the litigation and checks of others returned.

Feared Seattle Girl Abducted By Rejected Man

SEATTLE, March 20.—(AP)—Fear that 17-year-old Thelma May Lamond had been abducted by a disappointed suitor caused police here to start a search for her today.

Miss Lamond was taken from the home of her father, Guy Lamond, Jr., in Los Angeles, about a week ago and came by airplane to the home of her mother here. Mr. and Mrs. Lamond have not lived together for some time.

The day after the girl's arrival Mrs. Lamond obtained a court order giving her custody of her daughter. Mrs. Lamond told police the girl started to school yesterday but did not reach there.

Officers were attempting to locate John Nicely, 22, of Fresno, reported seen in the vicinity of the Lamont apartment. Mrs. Lamond said both she and her estranged husband had objected to Nicely as a suitor for their daughter.

RED CROSS WILL TAKE OVER REHABILITATION WORK AMONG ALABAMA FLOOD SUFFERERS

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—Steps from the relief and rehabilitation of the stricken people in the flood swept area of Southeastern Alabama were taken today at a conference between President Hoover, James L. Fieser, acting chairman of the American Red Cross, and Senator Hefflin and Representatives Jeffers and McDuffie of Alabama.

The Red Cross will have charge of the work of getting the people back to their homes, of supplying food and of turning over to the necessary farm instruments for the replanting of crops which were swept away by the flood waters.

WRECK SURVIVORS HELPLESS AS MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH IN CRASH

PARRY SOUND, Ont., March 21.—(AP)—Survivors of the wreck of two Canadian National express trains near here told today how they were forced to stand helplessly while men, women and children burned to death.

Nineteen dead were accounted for and a score or more were injured. Wrecking crews were searching the debris for other bodies. The wreck occurred when trains No. 3, east bound, and No. 4, west bound, collided head on near Drocourt, a siding, 46 miles northwest of here about dawn yesterday.

The greatest loss of life was in a colonists' coach near the end of the west bound train, which caught fire immediately. The flames held rescuers at bay while passengers trapped in the wreckage perished.

Only one identified dead were six members of the train crews. They were Conductor Barstead, Brake-man Ferguson, Brakeman White, News Agent Miller, Fireman Smith and Express Messenger Strutt.

The westbound train running by a switch was given by some of the passengers as the cause of the collision but A. E. Warren, general manager of the central division of the railroad, said the cause had not been determined.

FANTASTIC STORY OF LOVE TRIANGLE REVEALED BY GIRL WEDNESDAY DALLAS TRAGEDY

DALLAS, March 21.—(AP)—The Dallas Times Herald today said a fantastic story of a love triangle was revealed today as the background of the killing yesterday of Andrew M. Blue in a downtown office building by G. B. Pierce.

Miss Irma Tarrant, 22, told the grand jury that both men loved her and she had promised to marry Blue. She met Pierce, a married man with two children, four years ago. She was a student at Denton then. Their love affair began immediately and continued until six months ago, when she met Blue through a mutual friend. She said she did not see Blue again until a week ago Wednesday.

"Blue was a perfect gentleman, and I loved him," she said. She told the grand jury of a conference at the home of a friend here last week with the friend, and Blue, Pierce and herself present.

"I'll be a good sport," she quoted Pierce as saying in agreeing to the marriage.

The next day Blue took her to her home at Bullard, Texas, where she remained until she heard of the tragedy.

The girl said she had no special debts, and she did not understand why Blue should try to make Pierce sign a paper saying Pierce would pay her debts. After the shooting, an unfinished agreement in Blue's handwriting was found on the desk in Pierce's office where the men had been talking. It provided Pierce should pay Miss Tarrant's outstanding debts. Pierce said yesterday this paper caused the tragedy as Blue attacked him with a paper knife when Pierce refused to sign the paper.

RUMORS PUT FULLER IN HERRICK'S PLACE AMBASSADOR FRANCE

BOSTON, March 21.—(AP)—The Boston Herald says today in a copy-righted story that its Washington correspondent has learned that Alvan T. Fuller, former governor of Massachusetts, has been tentatively picked to succeed Myron T. Herrick as this country's ambassador to France.

Fuller long regarded as possible choice for the post, will arrive in Washington Saturday afternoon, the Herald adds, it is "hardly by accident" that his arrival will coincide with that of Henry L. Stimson, the new secretary of state. The former governor has been in Palm Beach and is motoring north.

Apparently the only question unsettled is whether Stimson will approve Fuller's choice for the Paris post, the story says.

Denied at White House. WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—Reports that former Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, is to succeed Myron T. Herrick as ambassador to France were received at the White House today with a reiteration of the statement that President Hoover is considering no diplomatic appointments until the arrival of his new secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson.

At the White House it is asserted Herrick will wish to remain in Paris and information available is Mr. Hoover will continue him the ambassadorship there.

RUNAWAY NEW YORK BOY HERE RETURNED HOME BY LOCAL Y

The Y. M. C. A. is always willing and ready to assist not only its members but others, as was demonstrated here this week when C. T. Banister, general secretary of the local Y, was instrumental in getting a boy who had left home to return.

Some time ago Mr. Banister received a notice from a secretary of a Y. M. C. A. in New York City that a boy had run away from home and he was asked to make a lookout for him. Pan Sini was the boy's name. Being an Italian name Mr. Banister inquired of Rev. Graffeo, rector of the Catholic church, if anyone he knew was worshiped in his church and it was found that he had. Continuous inquiries finally led to the discovery of the boy who had been doing odd jobs around town and caddy for the golfers on the courses here.

Pan reported to the Y when he learned that Mr. Banister was trying to get in touch with him and after a conference expressed a willingness to return home. Mr. Banister again got in touch with the secretary of the New York Y. M. C. A. and it was through that organization that his parents wired money for the boy's return ticket. The ticket was purchased and the boy placed on the Southern Pacific train at 4:50 Wednesday afternoon, happy to return to his parents.
